

British Museum Library

February 13th 1832

My dear fellow,

You will never cease to amaze me! Your endless quest for the unusual in literature leads you down dangerous paths. However I am your friend and what is more would not presume to refuse a distinguished man of science! If your desire is to read the Necronomicon, then so be it—

Please allow me to urge caution. Being a lord of the realm will afford you no protection from the horror contained within the covers of this cursed work! Drop in on Wednesday. Once again, take great care!

Nir Forester